LOVELY SUNSET COLORS CAUSED BY MIST ON HIGH

Explanation Offered for Crimson Glow; Cause of Wonder and Admiration

Streamers of crimson and banners of pink waved and flared in the western heavens last evening until long after the sun had disappeared. Pink blended into light blue, light into deeper blue and finally into a purple setting for the half moon that sailed high in the heavens. But it was the pink, crimson and the carmine that delighted observers and caused much interested comment.

What was the cause of the sunset after glow? Some said it was due to the volcano of Kilauea lighting up the entire sky, but such was impossible as the island of Hawaii is east of Oahu and not northwest, from whence the red light arose. Others attributed it to a plantation fire, but this too was wrong for but one spot in the sky would have been lighted up in that case. Was it the Northern Lights? It could not have been, for the glow and radiation were too far south in the heavens.

According to statements made by Prof. John S. Donaghio of the College of Hawaii and A. M. Hamrick, meteorologist of the United States weather bureau, the after glow was caused by the sun's rays penetrating mist particles high in the air. The red rays of the sun are the longest and most powerful. When the rays hit these mist particles in the air, the short and less powerful ones are reflected and stopped, while the red continues on. These red rays were scattered by this mist and the strange and beautiful effect produced.

On August 27, 1883, Karakatoa, a volcanic island in the Java sea, erupted, throwing dust and ashes about 20 miles into the air. The volcanic particles spread around the globe, and the entire world had after glows for about two weeks every evening until the dust and ashes had settled to the ground. Rev. Sereno Bishop of Honolulu was the first person to make this explanation at that time.

When asked if a similar instance would account for the sunset effects last evening, Hamrick said: "It probably was not a volcanic eruption or we should have received cable advice. If this after glow should continue for a week or more, then it is certain that dust thrown into the air is causing it."

The after glow started at 6:36 and ceased at 7:45 o'clock. It was at its height about 7:15.

Becomes Tired Of Supporting Whole Family

So This Girl Asked Admission to Industrial School; Advised to Return to Work

This little girl is going to try again. She is going to resume her business of selling leis and incidentally supporting her entire family, including two big brothers who would rather spend their time around the poi bowl than put some money into their pockets by the dint of manual labor.

On Monday the girl, who is part-Hawaiian and only 15, decided to quit, and she did quit. She laid aside her lei basket and determined to go to a place where she would not have to drudge early in the morning and late at night to feed all her relatives. She would let her two, lazy brothers take up the burden for a while and see how they liked it.

She went out to the girls' industrial school and asked to be admitted. Her story was told. She was tired of it all, she confessed, and thought that perhaps she might find relief at the school.

It was with firm kindness that officers at the school told the girl they could not admit her. She was neither a delinquent nor a dependent, they explained. Also, the school was prettily well crowded with girls rightly belonging there, and the institution could hardly be made to take the place of an asylum.

The girl cried a little when she was told she could not find a home there, even if only temporarily. She was advised to go back to her work, and that perhaps there would be a change in the family affairs.

So the girl will try again.

JAPANESE BANK WILL BE OPENED HERE THIS YEAR

Reports were heard today that the new Japanese bank to be launched here by the capitalist, Sumitomo of Osaka, Japan, will be at Nuanu and Kite street. Mr. Kawakatsu, representative of Sumitomo, is now looking for a suitable site, and it is said that one is favorable opposite the Chinese bank on the same streets. The Sumitomo bank is to be the personal venture of the capitalist, not the project of his banking firm in Osaka.

PARTY TO VISIT ISLAND OF LANAI

For rest, recreation and relaxation a party of Honoluluans will go to the little island of Lanai next week. The party will include Robert W. Shingle, Prince Kuhio, John McCrosson and others and Shingle said this morning that no business significance attaches to the visit. He denied specifically a rather persistent report that plans are on foot for a deal of some sort involving the sale of Lanai. It had been expected that Jay Gould would be one of the party, but the New York millionaire is now visiting with the J. H. Conneys on Kauai and does not expect to return in time to take the Lanai trip.

SALE OF TERRITORIAL BONDS UPON EXCHANGE SUBJECT OF COMMENT

Among the securities dealt in through the Honolulu Stock and Bond Exchange Monday were 7 Hawaiian Territory 3 1/2 per cent bonds and the transaction has occasioned considerable comment among the brokers. Several of the members of the exchange thought they were the first territorial bonds sold through the exchange, though such bonds have been offered at times. Other members said that this transaction was not the first in Hawaiian bonds, but it was the first sale in a long time and that it was the first sale of this particular issue to be recorded.

Most of the territorial bonds are held by mainland interests, it is said, and such are are not, mostly of one particular issue, have been and are very closely held.

The price realized Monday was 98 1/2.

NEW ARMY LAW MEANS LESS PAY FOR SOME

Where nearly every other branch of the military service receives benefit from the National Defense Act of June 3, as concerns better pay, privates of the medical department get only $15 a month under the new law, where formerly they pay was $16.

In the corps of engineers the new law allows for a maximum of only 19 privates first-class and 53 privates in each engineer company, where formerly there were 24 first-class privates. This means a number of men in each company will have to be reduced to the grade of private. This means a loss of $3 a month in pay.

About 150 feet of the new pavement on Lusitana street has been completed. Concrete was first poured Monday. The work is going ahead after weeks of delay due to a shortage of cement and bad weather.

SUGAR CROP ON MAUI NEXT YEAR MOST PROMISING

Ample Rains, Full Reservoirs and Ditches and Fine Stands Make for Record

That the plantations on Maui appear to be assured of a history making sugar crop for 1917 is the report brought back by John L. Fleming of James F. Morgan Company. He returned on the Mauna Kea this morning after a vacation trip which he enjoyed hugely but during which he found time to look over island conditions.

"I have been knocking around on Maui off and on for more than 25 years," said Fleming, "and I have never seen the cane fields look so fine. Reservoirs are full and the ditches are running to the brim. And such fields of cane! I never saw anything like it. Lately ample rains have continued following upon the earlier good rains and it would be difficult to conceive of a finer looking crop than can be seen there now. It promises much for 1917."

"When I was over in Hawaii I found the crop there very promising and I look for a wonderful sugar crop there also for next year. On Maui most of the present crop has been cut and ground, so interest is centering on the coming crop."

Fleming enjoyed great sport with rod and reel and devoted much of his vacation to angling. His best catch was a 35-pound ulua taken with a 15-foot line, but that was only one of many pleasant episodes in the outing.

POLICE NOTES

As a continuation of the Ah Foe-Levy feud on Asylum road, Charles and Miriam Ah Foe were arrested Sunday night and arraigned in police court, today accused of assaulting Annie and Tiny Levy. It is also said the mothers, fathers, sisters and brothers took the part of their respective relatives in no uncertain manner. The case will be threshed out before Judge Monsarrat tomorrow. The judge has become quite expert on the ways of the Ah Foes and Levys from their many appearances before him in similar cases.

H. W. Laws, who was arrested Saturday night for speeding by Detective Arthur Anders on King street, paid $5 and costs in police court.

Leu Duck forfeited a $100 bond in police court when he failed to appear for trial on a charge of selling liquor without a license at the Kahuku plant. He was arrested Saturday night by Liquor Inspector W. P. Fennell.

Mrs. E. Peters and Mrs. Kahalewal, both of Moiliili, were patients at the emergency hospital late Saturday night and early Sunday morning. Mrs.

spouse relieved her of a knife with which she had expressed a determination to cut down her better half to her size and then fight him like a man, so the police say. Kahalewal and a pane of glass tangled in such a way as to demolish the window and cut her head. Policeman John Hulihuli reports that she was "having a good time."

Wong Hoy, a cook for the City Mill Company, took a trip to the emergency hospital Saturday night in company with Policeman A. Kawathoa when a bottle in which he was bolting soil exploded and cut his foot.

The cases of G. Legaspi and Sam

Kellipuleole, accused of using threatening language, have been dismissed in police court.

The charge of heedless driving on the police calendar against S. U. Thomas has been stricken.

Ten Chinese arrested Sunday on charges of being present at a gambling game will be tried Wednesday in police court.
